courses are delivered at
City of Westminster College

Queens Park Campus

Community Systems in partnership with City of Westminster College, we work closely with local employers to offer job specific skills and employability training courses to help the unemployed back into sustained work at no cost to the individuals. However, participants are required to fully commit to the training in order to successfully acquire key employability skills and sustain employment. Our interactive courses are bespoke job specific, employer-led and leading to live vacancies
